
Sequence length and numerical input count are selected before final fitting.